

INTRODUCING META IN UTAH, OUR NEWEST CONTRIBUTOR!

AUGUST 6, 2012

Over the past few months I have gotten to 'know' Meta over email. I was first introduced to her when she got in touch before an upcoming trip to London asking for my favourite children's shopping spots in the city. I sent her my list, and the following month she sent me a link to her new blog, showing the photos she took in London and the shops she visited. Gorgeous! Take one look at her blog, One More Mushroom, and it's clear that Meta is a talented photographer with an adept eye for interior decoration and a love of vintage books and toys. I love her thrift shop finds and DIY tips and the way she captures everything in photos, often featuring her stylish home and beautiful children. We are thrilled to welcome her to our team as our newest contributor. (You can read more about her on our bio page and I'm sure it won't take long before you too feel like you know her, just reading her blog posts and seeing her gorgeous photography.)
