

BOSKKE

AUGUST 27, 2012

How cool are these? I am proud to say that my friend Patrick designed these hanging pot plants to allow anyone to have plants in their home no matter how small that house is. Growing up in New Zealand we never knew the concept of limited space but after moving to London it became apparent that not everyone is so lucky. Patrick designed these while studying ceramic design at Central St. Martin's and living on the 12th floor of a tower block.

There are so many great reasons to have plants in your home including purifying the air you breathe. I really want some for my kitchen so I can hang my herbs! Check out the Boskke story here.

Stephxo

Category: Décor, For Mums, Garden, Home

STEPHANIE IN AUCKLAND | 1 COMMENT
