

WELCOME SWEET FRANCESCA!

DECEMBER 8, 2012

Right around the time Elizabeth started contributing to Babyccino, she became pregnant with baby number two. She and I quickly discovered that we were both pregnant and due on the same day! It was so fun for me to share a due date with someone, and to bond over similar pregnancy milestones together (morning sickness, 12-week scans, breech babies, etc.). I've never actually met Elizabeth, but it turns out we share so much in common, the pregnancy being a big one.

Elizabeth welcomed her beautiful baby girl, Francesca, on October 30th, one week early. I loved reading about Francesca's birth on Elizabeth's blog (her breech baby never did turn around and she ended up having a beautiful, peaceful c-section birth) and I can't get enough of all the photos of that sweet baby on her Instagram feed. What a beautiful family she has, what an inspiring mother is, and what a thoughtful friend she has become. I hope to someday meet Elizabeth and to introduce our babies to each other!

Congratulations Elizabeth, and welcome little Francesca!

xx Courtney

Category: For Mums, Parenting Topics & Tips, Websites

---

COURTNEY IN LONDON | 6 COMMENTS

---