

BRITT BROWNE

JANUARY 15, 2013

We bought a new house this summer and moved in a mere two months before our baby girl arrived. Since she is still only two months and sleeps with us, I have been slow to design her nursery. It's always so fun to pick out new artwork for the little ones and I was happy to come across the art of Los Angeles based Britt Browne. Her pieces are playful and happy - I particularly love "Dots" and "Zebra" and think "Backgammon" would be fun for a boy's room too. I can't wait to get our print framed!
