

AQUA LAMB BOOTS

JANUARY 17, 2013

Listen, I am never going to pretend that sheepskin boots are sexy. They never were and they never will be, but sometimes comfort does rule over style (or sexiness for that matter). Personally, knowing that I have a pair of sheepskin boots ready to slip into for the school run, makes me a little bit happier about heading into a dark, drizzly winter morning! Up to now I have owned a pair of Uggs, but they are not made for the wet European climate. But trust a British company to come up with the solution: the Aqualamb Boot. It has a much better sole than the Uggs and is totally waterproof.

Hilariously enough, when my boots were delivered at my office and I started showing them off proudly, the reaction of the men varied from indifference to absolute disapproval. The girls however were seriously excited. I guess you cannot please everybody!
