

DON'T FORGET THE BIRDS!

JANUARY 24, 2013

This is a project I remember from when I was a child. Every winter my mum would buy a big bag of peanuts, and we would sit down and string them together in long garlands, to decorate the trees and feed the hungry birds. This week, the birds must be especially hungry (it's freezing cold here in Amsterdam), so I put the kids to work. And they loved the exercise! We used plain red baker's twine (like this), and a big ballpoint needle. Kids happy, birds happy, mama happy - a good hour spent!
