

PETIT PAN

April 19, 2010

Wandering the streets of Paris, on my never ending quest to find fun and stylish kids' clothes, accessories and furniture, I stumbled across Petit Pan. Petit Pan specializes in vintage furniture and old-style fabrics which have been out of print for generations. Their articles are produced in China by ethical companies using traditional methods, so there is a very strong Asian influence on their products. My daughter absolutely loves the animal kites, and I absolutely love the bed linen and bedroom bits and bobs.

I have also fallen for their new shop which sells sheets of delicately printed paper and fabric (all in their unique, colorful style). I want to buy all of it and just have it in case I may need it sometime in the far away future.....

The Petit Pan shops are in the centre of Paris, but their products are stocked all over the world and you can also browse their online boutique!
