

A MOUNTAIN EVEN LITTLE PEOPLE CAN CLIMB

MAY 13, 2009

I have one of these babies who loves to climb up on EVERYTHING. She can't walk, can't talk, but she can definitely climb! Her greatest joy in life is having a mountain built for her out of lots of pillows. The ascent of a 50 cm high mountain can keep her happy for the longest time and when she gets on top she is as proud as if she was Sir Edmund Hilary himself.

To celebrate this budding mountaineer I could not keep myself from investing in her very own mountain.... in the form of her very own beanbag. I fell in love with this great toy/design piece a while ago and finally gave in. Isn't it great? It is made to look like Sweden's tallest mountain, the Kebnekaise (I guess in Sweden even the mountains are well designed!), and is created by a very talented design team called Little Red Stuga. You can get it via Little Fashion Gallery or through the Little Stuga website.

As they say: If the baby will not come to the mountain, the mountain will come to the baby... (or something like that!)

- Emilie

Category: Children's spaces, Décor, Equipment, For Kids, Furniture, Home, Toys and Games

---

EMILIE IN PARIS | 1 COMMENT

---