

A YEAR LONG PHOTO PROJECT

SEPTEMBER 16, 2009

This summer a few blogs published this nice movie which was posted on YouTube. Parents took (at least) one picture of their baby every day for the first year of his life, nearly always in the same position (basically lying on a white sheet). Then they made a movie out of it with a nice soundtrack. I think it's brilliant!

You need some commitment sure, but it would be such a precious memory. It's truly amazing to be able to see your baby's growth in just over 2 minutes.

If you are pregnant now it may be something you could try to do. And personally I guess you could even cheat on a couple of days....

-Michela

Category: Crafts, Films and Music, For Mums

MICHELA | 5 COMMENTS
