

CHEAP AND CHEERFUL HOME DECOR

OCTOBER 9, 2009

A while back I stumbled across this website when I was looking for ideas on how to add a bit more pizzazz to the girls' room. I am not what you call “gifted” when it comes to home decor but I had to give myself a major pat on the back for what I was able to accomplish for around $75 and a half hour of work. Wall decals offer a quick, easy and inexpensive way to change a room in minutes and I when I scattered these sunburst circles on the wall it brightened up the space instantly. What’s even better is that when you need a change down the road you can just peel them off. I am thinking of investing in their chalkboard stick-ons to write out my weekly schedule and they recently launched a line of items to dress up a laptop. Scribble on Everything offers “Plastic Surgery for your Walls” and I get a kick out of just reading their website because whoever is in charge over there is really funny – just read their “How To” section.
