

SNOWDEN FLOOD MUGS

OCTOBER 7, 2010

I often get nostalgic for London - I spent 10 years there and it is one of my favourite cities in the world. I also like the look of London - it may not be as beautiful as Paris, but it's much more interesting with so many different buildings from so many different eras. Paris is very homogenous, whilst London can surprise you at every corner you turn.

I found these mugs at the great shop Loulou Addict and could not resist getting a couple. They are designed by talented British designer Snowden Flood. I love the look of them - they are perfect for my morning coffee... and if I can't come to London at least a tiny bit of London can come to me!
