

AN INTERVIEW ON THE CULTUREBABY BLOG

AUGUST 6, 2013

CultureBaby is a global children's boutique which offers a darling selection of children's products from all over the world. I love their search feature which allows you to shop by region so you can find cute goodies from Africa, India, South America, Asia, etc.

Each month on their blog they feature a new 'CultureBaby mum' - a global mum raising kids in a different part of the world. I was so thrilled to be asked to answer a few questions for this interesting series. You can see my interview here and read other great interviews here.
