

LAIKONIK ONCE A YEAR BOOKS

FEBRUARY 11, 2015

I have written about the beautiful Once A Year Books from Australian company Laikonik before, but now that I've started Casper's book, I thought I should share them again. They're just so beautiful.

The concept is simple: once a year, a photo can be placed in the harmonica-style notebook, and a little story can be written on the page behind, highlighting key events that took place that specific year. There's space for 18 photos, and to see all of the portraits after each other will give such a sweet overview of the growth and development of the child.

For Casper's once-a-year book I got the special edition Once A Year Book which comes in a gorgeous wooden box and has beautiful letter-pressed covers featuring an owl or (in our case) a fox. I have Once A Year Books for all of my kids, and I think that once they're 18 they will make such an amazing overview of their childhood! (They make very special newborn gifts too, especially this special edition with the wooden box and matching letter-pressed gift tag!)
